

Cavendish Farms is a family-owned Canadian company that produces quality frozen potato products and appetizers for customers in the retail, restaurant and institutional sectors. We proudly serve customers around the world, including the Caribbean markets of Antigua, Barbados, St. Kitts and St. Maarten.

Since 1980, when we acquired a processing facility in Prince Edward Island, Cavendish Farms has been committed to delivering consistently great tasting, high quality products, from the farm to our customers' tables.

For more than 35 years, the company has been a leader and innovator in the industry, including being the first potato processor to eliminate trans fats from all of our products by switching to 100% non-hydrogenated oil.

Our focus on quality and innovation has resulted in significant growth, as we now operate four potato processing plants and a fifth plant specializing in appetizer products.

Cavendish Farms is the fourth largest processor of frozen potato products in North America.
